THE SHIPPING COMMISSIONER MOVES

R. Griggs Holt on Monday, March 2, assumes the duties of United States Shipping Commissioner for the court of Honolulu. He has secured quarters in the old office of the Honolulu Iron Works on Queen street, Ewa of Nuuanu street, and will today move the office to that place. The new location is considered one of the most convenient ones on the waterfront, it being about midway between the Railroad wharves where so many vessels now moor and the Waikiki end of the harbor.

Doric Comes Into Port.

The steamship Doric arrived in port from San Francisco at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon and moored at the Channel wharf, the Pacific Mail space being occupied by the dismasted ship Paramita. The Doric had fair weather all the way down, experiencing only one bad day. She sighted a sailing vessel bearing away in the direction of San Francisco, but did not get her name. The Doric carries a large number of through passengers, about half a dozen stopping over in Honolulu. Among the through passengers are Mr. Vanderpool, medical inspector of the New York Life Insurance Company, en route to Yokohama, accompanied by Mrs. Vanderpool. Mr. Englehart goes to Hongkong to become purser of the steamship Atholl of the New Chinese Line.

Nouau Weatherbound.

A heavy snow fall on Mauna Kea and Mauna Loa, and considerable rain elsewhere on Hawaii, is the burden of the report of the purser of the Kauai, which arrived Thursday from the Big Island. He reports that the Nouau landed her Kukuihaele freight, but was forced to go to Hilo for shelter. Heavy swells are running along the Hamakua coast. Heavy seas and very heavy wind was encountered across the Hawaiian channel on the inward trip. The purser also reports the following sugar on Hawaii:
H. S. Co., 7,500 bags; P. S. M., 7,000 bags; H. A. Co., 1,425 bags; Honouapo 1,200 bags.
The Kauai brought 6,521 bags of sugar.

"Floating Palace" Listed.

Lauchman Durant's "floating palace," which has been moored for a week or so at the end of the Boat Landing, almost went to the bottom of the harbor Thursday evening and scared the owner for a bit. The palace is a sort of a house-boat in which the launchman has his bunk and living quarters so that he can be near his launch in case of a call, night or day. In some manner the barge sprang a leak and she tilted over on one side until the water poured in through the mosquito proof windows. Durant got out his launch yesterday morning and towed the ill-fated "palace" to Rotten Row and is now repairing the leak.
